

Professor Michael Schlander

M.D., Ph.D., M.B.A.

Michael Schlander is founding chairman of the not-for-profit 'Institute for Innovation & Valuation in Health Care' (InnoVal^{HC}) in Wiesbaden, Germany (as of 2005). The Institute is member of the Stockholm Network of European think tanks. He is a health economist at the Mannheim Institute of Public Health (MIPH) at the University of Heidelberg (since 2007) and a tenured professor of health care and innovation management at the University of Applied Economic Sciences Ludwigshafen (since 2002). He is member of numerous scientific associations, including the International Health Economics Association (iHEA), the International Society for Pharmacoeconomics and Outcomes Research (ISPOR), the Association of German-Speaking Economists (Verein für Socialpolitik) and a co-founder of the German Health Economics Society (Deutsche Gesellschaft für Gesundheitsökonomie, DGGÖ).

After six years in experimental brain research and clinical neurology, he joined the international pharmaceutical industry in 1987, where he spent 15 years in executive roles in clinical development (1987-1993), marketing (1993-1998), and general management (1998-2002).

He studied medicine and psychology at the University of Frankfurt and has been licensed as a physician in Germany since 1985. He received his M.D. (grade summa cum laude) from the University of Frankfurt, Germany, an M.B.A. degree (as valedictorian of the class of 1994) from City University of Seattle, Washington, a diploma in health economics from the Stockholm School of Economics, and the venia legendi (Ph.D. equivalent) for health economics from the University of Heidelberg. His scientific publications include two monographs, on 'The Contribution of Health Economics to Market-Oriented Pharmaceutical Research and Development' (Witten/Herdecke University Press; Witten, Germany: 1998) and on 'Health Technology Assessments by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE)' in England and Wales (Springer; New York, NY: 2007).
